

Thursday

The first dragonflies have arrived; summer is on the way.

Saturday

Checked out the action at 'Tweenies' pool. Got sunburned like a visitor. Oops.

Sunday

Breakfast at Blind Pass with friends. Saw several cruising yachts in the Gulf. Wished I were one of them.

Tuesday

Nemo has that "I haven't had any grouper in a long time" look on his face.

Wednesday

Woo-hoo! Otters under our dock! How long has it been?

Friday

Visited the boys at Jensen's. No chance of maintaining a bad mood at that marina.

Sunday

Got invited on a Stars and Stripes cruise. Got a close-up view of new causeway projects. I might do this on a regular basis!

Wednesday

End-of-season sales are starting. Danger!

Thursday

Lunch at Trader's with P&E. Relaxed with a bottle of wine, Italian style.

Friday

The bearded man was riding on the causeway this afternoon. For some odd reason, my day feels complete when I see him pedal by.

Saturday

The island has slowed down a bit, but not much. Lots of happy cyclists out today. Blue sky, hot sun, sea breezes.

Tuesday

Met B on the beach for some serious shelling. She's still my friend, despite having found two junonias in two years. Maybe her luck will rub off on me?

Thursday

Had dinner at D's. He was trying a new recipe for beer-battered grouper. Nemo actually looked relieved when I got home with a few bites for him.

Saturday

Rented a boat for the whole day. Almost nothing relaxes me as much as being on the water.

Sunday

Got invited to go boating again today. Do I look crazy? Of course I went!

Tuesday

M is talking about nothing but tarpon. I saw lots in Captiva Pass, so it must be a big year. Silver Kings is a good name for them.

Thursday

Saw a little feature on Ding Darling this morning on national TV. It's always nice when that happens.

Friday

Note to self: What is the translation of "piña colada?"

Saturday

A captiva night. Music at Key Lime, then dinner at the Duck. Did a little gallery hopping, too.

Sunday

It's getting hotter, but I don't mind a bit. This is one of my favorite times of the year. There are too many choices of activities in March and April, but May and June I can enjoy.
