

Sunday

Perfect day for boating—saw LG on someone else's boat, in the channel as we left Jensen's.

Monday

Still reliving yesterday on the water. One day on a boat is a great reminder of why we all live here.

Wednesday

R&G called from Italy—they are inbound shortly. Break out the Chianti!

Friday

Watched the most amazing documentary on PBS, about squid. Note to self: where are the nearest squid?

Saturday

Sanibel Music Festival: so much music, so little time!

Monday

I can't believe I'm thinking this, but I'm actually missing seeing the thunderheads of summer.

Wednesday

Saw a flock of about sixty wood storks riding currents near the causeway.

Thursday

Must be birding bonanza week; several roseate spoonbills were in the flats below the Blind Pass bridge!

Sunday

Just returned from Miami—S surprised me with a getaway to go hear some Latin music and enjoy the city vibe.

Wednesday

Alligators are making lots of mating noises—think I'll stay out of the way!

Thursday

Got distracted at tennis by a flock of ibis that kept circling our court—on foot!

Friday

Satisfied a fried oyster craving at lunch today—that would be hard to do in certain places!

Sunday

S received tickets to both Arcade Theater and Big Arts concert for his birthday. Yippee!

Tuesday

Gave my mom a copy of Ad Hudler's novel about the Edison estate. I know she'll enjoy it as much as I did.

Thursday

Met E&P for sunset at Charley's Cabana Bar. What a view!

Friday

Took a boat ride up the river late today; got a fish-eye view of all the new high-rises.

Sunday

Found a cool old map of Sanibel in an antiques store in Arcadia. Might frame it.

Tuesday

Took advantage of J coming in from Tampa and spent the day exploring local shops in Tahitian Gardens and Periwinkle Place.

Wednesday

Took J shelling—so much more inspiring than figuring out my taxes!

Thursday

Played Scrabble on L's back deck with all the dogs on hand—two dolphins made an appearance before it got dark.

Saturday

Went to the Timbers for fish and ran into M, who sold me fresh fish, smoked fish, shellfish, marinade, and seafood salad; a slightly dangerous but satisfying stop.

Sunday

First big rain in weeks. The birds will be ecstatic. Now if birdseed would also just pour from the sky. Note to self: find a feed store!

Wednesday

Wonder if the dragonflies will make their May appearance this year? I missed them last year...
